Directed by Jon Cassar (24: LEGACY), Jan Michelini; created by Frank Spotnitz (THE X FILES) & Nicholas Meyer (STAR TREK); starring Daniel Sharman (TEEN WOLF, FEAR THE WALKING DEAD), Bradley James (HOMELAND, MERLIN) and Sean Bean (GAME OF THRONES)

Florence, 1469. An attempt on Piero de Medici's life forces his son Lorenzo to assume leadership of the family-run bank. Once in power, young Lorenzo resolves to do things differently. With his brother Giuliano and young artist Sandro Botticelli at his side, he abandons the cynical politics of the past to usher in a new era of creative and political revolution. This swiftly brings him into conflict with the head of Florence's other powerful banking family, Jacopo Pazzi, who will stop at nothing to defeat Lorenzo. Their clash gives rise to one of the most thrilling political intrigues in all of history, the infamous Pazzi conspiracy.
