LOVE IN ACTION

Diego and Stella are two police cops; not only do they work together every day, but they are also a young couple of newlyweds, who impulsively got married after a very short engagement.

Diego is a skilful police commissioner, Stella is a rather impulsive inspector. He is a calm and clever man, she is a lively and chaotic woman. Husband and wife, elbow to elbow in investigations and in their private lives. You catch them talking about their latest case between the shopping carts and the frozen food at the supermarket, or arguing about the new furniture when out on patrol. Together always, until they find a way to solve the crime cases they are assigned. Pity that they still haven't come across a solution for their biggest case: their marriage!

Framing their story stunning views of a Rome still unknown to most: alleys and hidden squares, small restaurants and secret gardens of a city still full of mystery and universal appeal.

Connecting family and detection, Love in action finds the right balance between comedy, thriller and love story. A series where each episode's story line always makes a short-circuit between investigations and the daily couple's life.
